An Air France KLM Boeing 747 aircraft on a flight from Paris skidded off the runway after landing at Montreal's Trudeau Airport on Tuesday but there were no injuries or serious damage, police said. Passengers were taken off the plane by emergency crews after it overshot the runway and became stuck in the grass. Operations at the airport were not seriously affected and planes continued to land and take off. Aug 27, 2008

American Airlines asked the US Dept. of Transportation for permission to delay the start of its Chicago O'Hare-Beijing service from April 9, 2009, to April 4, 2010. Sep 1, 2008

American Airlines expects to equip its international fleet with satellite-based in-flight connectivity if the carrier's trial of Aircell's air-to-ground internet service results in successful domestic fleet-wide equipment. "My team has been working on connectivity for many, many years and we've been talking to all the connectivity providers. If this is very successful domestically, then we're certainly going to look at satellite solutions for our international fleet as well," says American
